This is my first book by Sandi Lynn. I do not know what to expect from it. Based on many good ratings in Goodreads, I took a dive. The story is about a young woman, Ellery who, at one night, helped a drunken stranger in the bar. And that stranger is a billionaire Connor Black. They strikes up a friendship and turns into love relationship.

What was most disappointing about Sandi Lynn ' s story? The female character was weak and needy. Would you listen to another book narrated by Felicity Munroe and David Benjamin Bliss ? Not as much as Forever Black, mainly because I loved Ellerys feisty behaviour in it, but more so because I don't think it should compete with the first book in the series that stole my heart.
