Manchester's "Goodbye Darkness" is a very touching autobiography of his life, but focusing on his time as combat Marine in WWII. I enjoy reading other autobiographies of Marines in WWII: Robert Leckie, and Eugene Sledge, for example.

Pacific War ...

This emotional and honest novel recounts a young man's experiences during World War II and digs deep into what he and his fellow soldiers lived through during those dark times. The nightmares began for William Manchester 23 years after WW II. In his dreams he lived with the recurring image of a battle-weary youth (himself), "angrily demanding to know what had happened to the three decades since he had laid down his arms."

To me "Goodbye Darkness" although on one level a memoir of the author's service in the US Marine Corps in the Pacific Theatre during World War II is really a journey of discovery of who the author is and the belief system that formed him during the 1930's and 1940's.
